

THE LANCET SERIES ON GENDER EQUALITY, NORMS, AND HEALTH

Promote Inclusion | Transform Gender Norms | Revolutionize Health Systems

Launch of the Lancet Series on Gender Equality, Norms, and Health at Washington University in St. Louis

The recently published Lancet Series on gender and health offers new perspectives and evidence on the impact of gender inequalities and norms on health, and the actions that everyone can take to achieve equality in the sustainable development goals era.

Please join Washington University authors Jessica Levy and Lindsay Stark, additional Series authors, and regional experts to discuss the findings, and share ideas on how to advance an action and accountability agenda to achieve gender equality, globally and locally.

Description of Events:

Join us for a half day event that kicks off with opening remarks from Provost Marion Crain and Dean Mary McKay, followed by 'TED-style' talks presenting the five papers comprising the Series. A moderated panel of regional policy makers and practitioners will then speak to the ways in which the themes highlighted in the Series resonate and are relevant in their work locally.

Location:

February 27, 2020 | 2:00-5:00pm
Hillman Hall, Clark Fox Forum | Washington University in St. Louis

Reception to follow

Co-Sponsored By:

The Brown School | WU School of Medicine's Office of Faculty Affairs and Department of Medicine
Iris Group | Institute for Public Health | Stanford School of Medicine
Office of the Vice Provost for Faculty Advancement and Institutional Diversity

RSVP at <https://lancetlaunch.eventbrite.com>.